

Relaxing media ownership rules is just one more step toward a fascist state. Already almost all media are owned by six corporations. News reporting is totally biased toward the right-wing conservative corporate point of view. The American public would never have approved of the Iraq invasion if they had been truly informed. But no. A horrifying corporate-sponsored truth blackout is in effect, and we must not let the situation get any worse.